

Late fall fishing report and overview.

Well, what a year it has been. Sorry for my delay in fishing reports just been very busy. It's always nice to end the year on a bang which is exactly how the open water season turned out. With the rivers low the bass fishing was phenomenal. Both clients and myself in pre-fishing were able to land and also lose many, many very nice fish. Plus who would complain about the accidental northern or walleye landed. Trout fishing also ended great with a six pounder being landed on the last trip of the season. The walleyes at Clear Lake slowed down a little this fall but if you used a little patience you would sometimes be rewarded with fish in the 5 to 7 lb class. And if you didn't have the patience to wait for a trophy walleye you could go out and tire your arms out reeling in the white and yellow bass that seemed to be in an endless supply this year at the lake. All in all, the season was awesome and as I take my boat in to get it winterized I can't wait till next year. So in the meantime I'll get out my ice fishing equipment and who knows, maybe I'll see you on the ice! Take care and book your trips early for next year!
